OTTAWA, Ont., May 19.—The Province of Ontario greeted King George and Queen Elizabeth with soggy, leaden clouds today as the royal train arrived in Ottawa 11 a. m. E. D. T.

Leaving the train at Island Park driveway where a special platform had been constructed, the royal couple was greeted by a salute of 21 guns.

Governor-General and Lady Tweedsmuir were at the station to meet them together with members of the dominion parliament, the cabinet and local officialdom.

Thousands of Ottawans lined the route from the station apparently oblivious to the clouds and occasional rain.

Tour Is Triumph
OTTAWA, May 19.—Eastern Canada, in two days time, has demonstrated an amazing capacity for packing itself sardine fashion into any given space on receipt of the magic words—"you can see them from here."

Visited in the past by such colorful members of the royal family as the Duke of Windsor (then Prince of Wales), Canada always has put on a good show but for the present rulers of the empire it has gone happily mad.

People get up at 4 or 5 o'clock in the morning to have a good standing spot by 2 in the afternoon. They go without lunch and they go without supper, if by so doing they can hold a five square inch space from which it is just possible to catch a glimpse of the lean, smiling king and his sweet-faced queen.

Greatest Montreal Crowd
Montreal in 1924 held a tremendous holiday in honor of the Prince of Wales but natives say that Montreal's two and a half million turnout yesterday surpassed anything the city ever has seen before.

From the moment the royal couple left their silver and blue palaces on rails at Park street station in the early afternoon until they boarded it again at Windsor street late at night to be taken to a secret siding (Continued On Page Two)

Pittsburgh Foundry Destroyed By Fire

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 19.—The Pittsburgh Gray-Iron Foundry Company's Northside plant was a mass of twisted and charred debris today, reduced to ruin by a blazing inferno that cost the firm an estimated $1,250,000.

While more than 5,000 spectators watched, firemen from the Northside and downtown districts battled for two hours late last night before bringing the blaze under control and eliminating the threat of fire to nearby tenement buildings.

Fire Chief Nicholas Phelan estimated damage at $60,000 but later, General Manager R. F. Holtz supplemented this with a more detailed report. The plant and machinery cost about $250,000, Holtz said, and metal patterns "worth a million dollars," owned by 85 other firms and stored in the building, were either destroyed or damaged beyond use.

Three firemen were overcome by smoke and two others suffered cut hands. They were treated at an emergency station near the scene. No workmen were injured, since the plant had only a night watchman on duty at the time.

Foremen expressed belief the blaze broke out among packing boxes and spread rapidly as it consumed wooden frames used in makim forms for the printing plant which owned the company. The intense heat twisted the corrugated iron structure into a molten mass in many places.

So-Called "Kiss-Of-Death" Woman Interviewed In Secret By Detectives

REPORTS CIRCULATE THAT WOMAN 'TALKS'

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—Seized by G-Men in a Greenwich village apartment in New York, Mrs. Rose Carina, so-called "kiss of death woman" long-sought in connection with Philadelphia's insurance-murder ring faced a hearing on homicide charges today.

Brought back to this city from which she fled at outset of the poison probe, Mrs. Carina was rushed to an unidentified police station for questioning. Arrested with the alleged "Lorelei" of the poison plot was Antonio Mastro, a barber who was accused of aiding her flight from Lakewood, N. J.

Report Woman "Talks"
Reports that Mrs. Carina has "talked" circulated freely around city, hall after detectives sent an emergency call for a stenographer. Rumor had it that authorities already are in possession of information from the "Kiss of Death" woman that may cause another flare up in the sordid tale of America's greatest mass murder syndicate.

Later two detectives returned to city hall apparently to re-examine statements of witnesses believed to have involved Mrs. Carina. She may be confronted with her findings, it was believed, when she and Mastro, together with six or seven other defendants, are arraigned today before Judge Harry S. McDevitt.

With the arrest of Mrs. Carina, who is fat, dumpy and 45, and Dominic Rodio, picked up Wednesday in Cleveland by G-Men, police announced all persons named as principals in the "slay for pay" plot were in custody. Mrs. Carina is charged specifically in the poison death of Pietro Stea, South Philadelphia grocer and her common law husband.

A self-exile in Germany for 19 years, Bergdoll has been reported ready to embark for America in an effort to beat final passage of the Harness bill which would bar him from this country. He fled to Europe after being sentenced to five years in jail for evading the draft. Although reluctant to talk, Bergdoll's wife finally revealed receipt of a cablegram from her husband.

Hall At Philadelphia

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 19.—With Gov. Arthur H. James and other notables participating, Pennsylvania's official exhibit at the New York World's Fair was formally dedicated this afternoon before a large throng of Pennsylvanians and other Fair visitors.

Governor James, addressing listeners in the Pennsylvania building, a replica of Independence Hall, saw in the structure a symbol of the progress which has elevated the Keystone State to a place of importance among the states second only to New York.

"The governor called upon his listeners to encourage a 'new spirit' of working together, all looking ahead, all working for the common good, all marching on to greater efficiency."

State Delegation Present

Flanking him as he spoke were Mayor Fiorella La Guardia, Fair director Grover A. Whalen, cabinet officers, senators and representatives and other high-ranking state officials who journeyed here in a special train from Harrisburg.

"We of Pennsylvania want to bring forth a new ideal to place before all people," declared the governor. "We might call it a new fuel for our white lamp of freedom, so that our altar of democracy may shine forth eternally ever brighter. 'The key to this greater freedom' (Continued On Page Two)

Resume Work At U. S. Steel Mines

"Captive Mine" In Mercer County Included In Those Affected By New Contract

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 19.—With both the "union shop" clause and the strike penalty provision deleted from their contracts, more than 8,000 miners employed by three subsidiaries of the United States Steel corporation returned to work today, ending the threat of a further tie-up of "captive mines."

Union leaders after signing the two-year pacts, said similar contracts will be signed as soon as possible with other operators of the mines which supply coal to big steel companies and utilities.

Patrick Fagan, district UMW president, said the contracts were virtually the same as those signed with the Appalachian operators last week in New York, so far as union protection is concerned.

Conclusion of the negotiations, which were carried on for the past three days, sent the men back to five mines in Fayette county, and one each in Mercer, Washington and Allegheny counties.

The seed may be just the very best and the ground may be rich and black, and you may have planted the seeds just right, as you laid them down on their back. But there's other things that you'll need as well, and water I'd rate as one, and you'll find that watering a sprinkling can is a waste of a lot of fun. You waggle it back and you waggle it forth, and plants look up with a grin, and you get results in a handsome way instead of a crop that is thin. So don't forget that your plants get dry, and if you would raise them fine, just buy yourself a big sprinkling can, the weather is eighty nine.

Restore Order In Jerusalem

Report Between 150 And 200
Injured In Riotous Demonstrations

ARMORED CARS PATROL ZONES

(International News Service)
JERUSALEM, May 19.—Order was restored in Jerusalem and Tel Aviv by British police today following riotous Jewish demonstrations against the British plan for restricting Jewish immigration into the Holy land and establishing an "independent" Arab-controlled Palestine.

Between 150 and 200 Jews were injured as police fired upon and charged the crowds with batons. One British constable was killed and several others were hurt.

After order was restored, armored cars patrolled the trouble zones. In the riot area in Jerusalem authorities shut down electric power, causing a black-out.

At the height of the disorders, the rioters hurled stones at police and troops.

Most of the injured were not in serious condition but several score required hospital treatment. Although the most severe clashes occurred in Jerusalem and Tel Aviv, fighting also took place in Jaffa, Jaffa and other communities.

The disturbances were started mainly by Jewish nationalist youths and World War veterans. In Jerusalem, British troops built barricades in the streets to keep Jews and Arabs apart.

Police Use Guns
Police used guns in charging crowds which attacked government buildings in Jerusalem and Tel Aviv. Some were reported wounded by bullets though police sought to shoot over their heads.

Jewish leaders appealed to their people to go home and refrain from further demonstrations.

The disorders culminated a 24-hour strike marked by anti-British parades and mass meetings in which more than 200,000 Jews participated throughout Palestine.

Jews vowed to continue the fight for a Jewish homeland in Palestine. In Jerusalem 40,000 Jews marched to the "wailing wall" where chief Rabbi Isaac Herzog ceremonially tore up a copy of the "White Paper" which announced Britain's program for Palestine.

Argentine Beef Question Not As Yet Concluded

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 19.—President Roosevelt today suggested that the next step in the Argentine beef controversy might be an improvement of the brand and a lowering of the price of the American product.

This suggestion came at his press conference when the president was asked if he regarded the question as settled. Mr. Roosevelt said he did not think so.

Asked whether he might veto the navy appropriation bill because of the amendment forbidding purchase of foreign supplies, the president said he had not read the measure.

Seek To Effect Truce In Harlan

Sniping Develops At Some Points In Kentucky
Trouble Area

GUARDSMEN GIVEN ORDERS TO OPEN FIRE

(International News Service)
HARLAN, Ky., May 19.—Federal and state labor department conciliators worked to effect a truce in the bitter Harlan county coal war today as 1,200 National Guardsmen, under orders to open fire with machine guns and rifles should yesterday's sniping at reopened mines be repeated, strove to keep peace.

The federal conciliator, John L. Connor, who arrived on the scene last night from Washington, said he could not promise a settlement of the controversy between Harlan coal operators and the United Mine Workers, but would do the best he could.

Deadlocked On "Open Shop"
To date, the operators and the union have been deadlocked on the issue of "union shop" contracts which all other Kentucky owners have staked.

"I can't say anything except that I plan to lay the groundwork for the beginning of conciliation today," Connor said. He added that he hoped to discuss the situation during the day with individual operators and union leaders, with a view to bringing them together.

Aiding Connor was Emmett Durbin, representing the Kentucky Department of Industrial Relations.

As the peace efforts got under way, however, an atmosphere of war continued tenseness along the country's mine front. At Totz, more than 100 troopers pointed fixed bayonets at all persons approaching the Harlan-Central mine, where yesterday sniping from a group in ambush was reported.

New Gunfire Occurs

Harlan, Ky., May 19.—New gunfire blazed in the coal fields of "bloody Harlan" today as federal labor conciliators opened conferences to end the struggle between the county's operators and the United Mine Workers of America.

From the hills adjoining the Harlan-Colliers mine at Brookside, shots were fired at company workers. A contingent of the 1,400 state militia on duty in the strike zone answered with automatic rifle fire. More than 50 shots were exchanged. No wounded were reported.

Give Plans For Dedication Of Chapter House

Lawrence County Chapter
Will Have Three-Day
Program Next Week

R. A. SHEPARD TO BE VISITOR

Mrs. William E. Cosel, chairman of the committee in charge of the dedication of the Lawrence County Red Cross Chapter House, assisted by Alex McCready, vice chairman, have made plans for the three days of celebration outlined for May 24, 25, and 26.

The Lawrence County Chapter is but one of over 3,500 Red Cross Chapters in the United States, which owns its own chapter house, and in view of this fact, the members of the Lawrence County Chapter feel rightfully proud of this fact. It was made possible through the generosity of Frank B. Offutt, a long time friend of the Red Cross in New Castle.

Feeling that the present home will be the permanent location of the Red Cross in Lawrence county from now on, the committee has left nothing undone to make the event an outstanding one, and has prepared a program which will be long remembered by the public.

R. A. Shepard, an official of the American National Red Cross at Washington will be the guest speaker, dedicating the Chapter House to the service of the Red Cross. This will take place Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Clears Courtroom In Marion Talley's Suit For Daughter

Counsel For Former Grand Opera Star Asks For Such Action

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 19.—Referee Richard P. Lydon today cleared the courtroom where Marion Talley is suing for custody of her four-year-old daughter, Susan, to permit testimony of an intimate nature before only the referee and in presence of the little girl's parents.

Miss Talley, former grand opera star, is suing her husband, Adolph Eckstrom, from whom she is separated and in whom custody of the child is now lodged.

The request for clearance of the room was made by her counsel, John Kenin, when Fred Sitterly of Calloria took the stand to tell of visits made by Miss Talley to the home of Aubrey Scott, former movie director. Miss Talley had not yet finished her case and when Eckstrom's counsel, Frank Delaney, asked permission to call Sitterly out of turn, Keith rose to declare:

"There is going to be some unpleasant notoriety in the testimony of this witness. In the best interests of the child I think that only her parents should hear it. I ask that the courtroom be cleared, and I particularly ask that the witness' wife should leave."

The well-filled courtroom was emptied immediately by the referee's accession to Keith's request.

Mehard Starts Own Defense By Taking Of Stand

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 18.—Former City Solicitor Churchill B. Mehard took the stand in his own defense today as the first witness in his trial on charges of accepting more than $11,000 in bribes during his tenure of office.

Speaking slowly and clearly, Mehard made an immediate denial of the testimony advanced by Attorney Morris G. Levy, that he had accepted bribes for cases against the city which were settled out of court. Levy was the state's most important witness.

The main thoroughfare on East Washington street must have been the route of a circus company, traveling east and arriving here from the north on Jefferson street during the night. Arrows in the middle of the Public Square and huge letters, spelling N. O. on South Jefferson street, indicate the eastern road.

Believe Roosevelt Seeks Third Term

Party Leaders See Indications

President Keeps Silence On Question—Farley Is Making Tour

RECENT ACTS OF ROOSEVELT CITED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 19.—High politics in both major parties are now convinced President Roosevelt will seek a third term in the White House, although he maintains a strict personal silence on the issue.

Belief in the President's third term ambition is founded on reports trickling into the capital, that Postmaster General James A. Farley is using his present cross-country trip to capture delegates for Mr. Roosevelt. It is the same kind of trip Farley took eight years ago to get Roosevelt delegates for the 1932 convention.

See Indications
While the politicians concede Farley may be acting without instructions from Mr. Roosevelt, they call attention to a number of recent acts by the president as indicating his ambition. Politicians say the president is busy healing old wounds within his party.

One such act, they say, is his appointment of Armistead M. Doble, University of Virginia law dean, as federal judge for the western district of Virginia. Doble is a life-long friend of Senator Harry Flood Byrd, who joined recently with his colleague, Senator Carter Glass, to force Senate rejection of the president's first choice, Floyd H. Drexler, for the Virginia judgeship. Appointment of Doble, eminently satisfactory to Byrd and Glass, has gone far toward healing the breach between the president and the two independent Virginia Senators.

KING AND QUEEN TO SPEND THREE DAYS AT OTTAWA

for the night. Montreal waved its flags and rang its bells and tooted its horns in a perfect frenzy of enthusiasm.

Eleven hundred persons crowded into the civil banquet held in Windsor hotel, not to hear flowery oratory, but to witness a single speech, but simply to sit in the same room with their majesties, to warm in the wholesome smiles of the queen and steal glances at the finely chiseled features of the king.

What eastern Canada seems to find to admire most in the royal couple is the clean cut of the boyish looking king and the sweet radiant charm of the queen.

Appear Cool and Unruffled

The days are long for the royal couple, it has been hot in the sun as they drove slowly along in an open car over long parade routes but never have they appeared anything but cool, unruffled and friendly.

Beyond the lines of formality set for the trip as befits their status as reigning monarchs, they cannot go but certainly no one can complain that they are stolid or stiff, or the other extreme, spectacular.

Even in her selection of costumes to wear, the queen has chosen simply designed dresses of pale shades, avoiding the particularly "dresy" models. Her jewel accessories at formal functions are adequate without being dazzling. Her favorite tiara is a small one, even though expensive, and is hardly noticeable on her neatly parted, dark hair.

Today after two days of intensive activity, their program is comparatively light because three days have been allotted to Ottawa. Instead of five-minute appearances at a dozen places spotted miles apart, they will spend most of the day in Government House, the residence of Governor-General and Lady Tweedsmuir.

To Receive Roper
Here the king will receive Daniel C. Roper, newly appointed minister to Canada, who will for the first time in the history of diplomatic relations between the United States and the dominions, present his credentials directly to his majesty.

Later in the day the king and queen will receive the press correspondents who are accompanying them on tour.

Ottawa will see little of their majesties on this first day but if the program follows the schedule of Quebec and Montreal, Ottawa will be compensated today by the sight of more marching men and the sound of more bands than usually accompanies a national holiday.

Montreal Dinner
For the Montreal dinner the queen wore a white satin gown embroidered in crystal with a bare suggestion of a train—hardly more than two feet. She elected to wear a larger tiara than her favorite one and a double strand of diamonds. A white fox cape completed her costume and she carried white gloves.

On the way to the dinner the royal couple made one of those extemporaneous gestures which are loaded with crowd appeal. The thousands who lined the street outside the Windsor hotel cheered lustily after they entered the hotel. Suddenly there was a shout and all eyes turned upward to a balcony window on the second floor to find that the king and his consort had come out in full view. They remained standing there for several minutes and then with a smile and a wave, they withdrew.

All through the long dinner session the solidly packed lines outside stood firm and broke only when the royal party had emerged again from the hotel and moved on to the royal train, to be taken to an unannounced siding for the night. As their majesties boarded the train and it moved slowly out of the Montreal station the now familiar 21-gun royal salute rang out.

GOVERNOR JAMES DEDICATES STATE EXHIBIT AT FAIR

which we envision in the world tomorrow—cooperation and coordination. And by this we mean a warm, true, sincere bond of unity of men, labor, government, capital, and resources.

"Cooperation and coordination is the new deal we want to give the millions of people from the four corners of the earth who will visit this New York World's Fair."

At this juncture Governor James paused to pay a tribute to the state commission which planned the exhibit, pointing out that "here one can live again in uninterrupted sequence a part of the glorious history which is Pennsylvania's prized heritage."

"Pennsylvania's contribution to the Fair," he continued, "is the joint handiwork of two administrations, that of my predecessor and my own. The cooperation and coordination of the two worlds of tomorrow, where freedom and liberty ring 'round the earth, and men everywhere cooperate with one another and coordinate their genius."

"Here at the head of the court of states in the New York World's Fair, the Pennsylvania building stands as a shrine of freedom, exemplifying the story of a great state and a great nation."

"The people have presented this building, this shrine of light and truth and hope to us for dedication, and we in turn rejoice in formally opening it to the nation and to the world at large."

"The Pennsylvania ideal is to work together for the unity of all our resources, to the end that the Keystone State may place once again in a world that has lost its way and lead the way to a new world, the world of tomorrow, where freedom and liberty ring 'round the earth, and men everywhere cooperate with one another and coordinate their genius."

Governor James and other state officials tonight were to participate in a national radio broadcast as a climax to the observance of Pennsylvania day.

tion. Clinging to this thought, the word has gone out through various channels that the President will be "compelled" to run again. It is being echoed all up and down the line by a Broadway gossip columnist on the radio, by various magazine and newspaper writers who "tie in" with the Corcoran group, by New Deal Senators and jobholders. But, it may be noticed, not by Mr. Farley, whose political views do not coincide with those of Mr. Corcoran—and who does not work in harmony with him. However, the President plays up and is fully expected next Monday to perform according to schedule.

Warns About Dogs Running-At-Large During Night-time

State Dog Investigator Here
Says Laws Are To Be Enforced

William H. Goehring of Beaver Falls, Pa., R. D. 1, state dog investigator, warned every dog owner in Lawrence county about letting their dogs run loose at night.

Investigations will be made and action taken to put a stop to this practice. The law specifically says: No owner or keeper of dogs are allowed to let their dogs run loose from sunset to sunup.

Owing to the number of complaints registered in recent weeks, Mr. Goehring is making a thorough investigation here and promises action. Dog owners must also be controlled as well in the daytime.

A check is also being made on dog licenses for the 1939 year. There are a great many dogs in the county unlicensed and Mr. Goehring will start an extensive check on the unlicensed canines.

AROUND CITY HALL

The Billy Glenn pool in Cascade Park has a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons of water, which is more than used in city of New Castle any one day, according to Glenn R. Throop. Should the pool be operated by the city it will be necessary to chlorinate the water every eight hours, he told council Thursday. Throop said the public school pools possess a capacity of approximately 150,000 gallons and the Y. M. C. A. pool, approximately 115,000 gallons.

The trailer for the life-boat kept at the city police department, is one of the best constructed locally and no difference how rapid a police car goes no trouble will be experienced with the trailer, according to city hall reports. It can be attached to a police car, or State motor police car, within a few minutes.

Years ago a flying squadron of life-savers was organized here and in case of water accidents they gave their service. Police of all agencies also were and are ready to respond to any stream where there is a person drowning, or drowned. It might be a good idea for persons to remember, in case of water accidents not to lose time, but call No. 8, city police; or the State motor police.

Babson Discusses Government Bonds

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright 1939—Publishers Financial Bureau

NEW YORK CITY, May 19.—One of the toughest jobs in the financial world today is the protection of money and property. The yield on money is lower than ever and the risks are greater than ever. Consequently, bankers and investors are scared to death. They do not know what to do. They feel that whatever move they make will be wrong. They have never been so hard pressed before—not even in the abyss of the depression.

The only securities which now meet with favor here on Wall Street are government bonds. Capital has been retreating into these issues for the past five years. Because the Five Years Notes are tax-free, they meet with an artificial demand. From one end of the earth to the other, United States Government bonds are considered the strongest investment that can be bought. A number of factors have boosted these bonds to the highest price level. In history so that certain issues yield less than one per cent.

Why "Governments" Are Favored
These government bonds are particularly favored by managers of institutional and trust funds. Such people believe their primary job is to maintain the principal of the funds committed to their care. Income is a secondary consideration with them. Whereas ten years ago a conservative investment fund might yield 5 per cent, today it yields but 2 or 3 per cent. Bankers prefer United States "Governments" because they are exchangeable into dollar bills at any time. A bank's only obligation is to pay depositors "dollars" regardless of what the purchasing power of these dollars will be. Trustees, too, are buying "Governments" because they feel the price of these bonds will hold up.

I seriously question the action of both trustees and bankers on two grounds. First, I believe that interest rates will eventually advance. Either a business boom or a war would increase money rates and shove down the high price of "Governments". Even if the price did hold up, the purchasing power of their income and principal would decline. Buying government bonds, therefore, may be risky business today as was the buying of common stocks in 1928—except for those who want ready funds with which to meet debt taxes.

Registration Would Be Foolhardy
The second reason why I question the purchase of government bonds is the financial status of the United States Government. If these bonds had to be registered with the Securities Exchange Commission in the same way that private bonds must be, I doubt if many could be marketed. Such a registration statement would have to show that the U. S. Government has not even earned operating expenses for ten years. What corporation could get bankers to pay a premium for its 2 tees do not have the guts to refuse to buy government bonds and put a stop to the whole miserable mess. Some of them tell me, "You can't definitely say that we will have inflation or repudiation, Mr. Babson. It is not yet clear that we will." Well, perhaps not. It is not yet clear that Christmas is coming again, either. I ask these men, "How can current public debts ever be paid off?"

National Tax Strike?
Some answer, "They do not have to be paid off so long as they do not get any bigger." My retort is that public debts will continue to multiply unless public spending is slashed or taxes boosted. Can federal spending, for instance, ever be reduced 50 per cent? Anyone who thinks it can be cut should just review the history of the present session of Congress. It was widely advertised as an economy session. A week ago the Senate passed the largest farm appropriation bill in history by a vote of 61 to 14! Taxes can be increased easier than spending can be reduced. However, if taxes are pushed much higher I fear a national sit-down strike of tax payers!

Meanwhile, the lazy public goes on voting for the Pied Pipers who got us into this jam. If the spenders of these public vultures could be cut off by those who still control the country's capital markets we would take our first step on the long come-back trail. Our bankers and trustees are not only jeopardizing the interest of their own depositors and beneficiaries but they are putting an artificially high price on government bonds. The smaller investor, less well-informed, buys "Governments" because he thinks their high price means stability and safety. Yes, every time I visit New York City I feel a great need for bankers and trustees with character and courage!

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Placing Stone On Earth Dykes At Disposal Plant

Long Stone Flood Retaining Wall At Plant Has Now Been Completed

WPA workmen engaged in erecting a flood retaining wall at the city disposal plant just outside the Seventh Ward have started placing heavy stone on the earth dykes around the plant. They are making excellent progress on this portion of the work.

This corps of workmen just recently completed the erection of a huge stone and earth retaining wall along the river bank. This huge wall is 405 feet in length and is built to a height to withstand quite a bit of water from the nearby Mahoning river.

As the plans are now mapped out all of the present earth dykes about the plant will be covered with heavy stone. This will not only tend to further protect the disposal plant in time of floods but will add a great deal to the present beauty of the property.

Complete Work At Cemetery In Seventh Ward

Many Improvements Are Made In St. Lucy's Cemetery By Corps Of Workmen

Workmen have completed the task of rebuilding the roads and making general repairs in St. Lucy's cemetery. All of the roads leading into and through the grounds have been widened and completely rebuilt.

The workmen put in a good hard foundation for the new roadways and then topped them with a gravel surface. Entrance to the burial ground was widened and is greatly improved.

Inside the cemetery, the drains and gutters were reconstructed, and will now be able to carry away a much larger supply of water. Due to the fact that this cemetery is located so high, the drainage system must be well arranged to keep the roads from washing out.

A new road through the cemetery was constructed and a portion of the area cleared away to enlarge the cemetery grounds. All of this work was done by members of St. Lucy's church and residents of the area.

Memorial Parade Planned In Ward

The parade route will lead to St. Lucy's cemetery where a Memorial program will be held by the society.

President DeVivo and secretary, Patrick DeLuca are in charge of arrangements for the program. These two committee members are handling the line of march arrangements for other organizations from the district, also.

Back in the county controller's office, Frank W. Hill has plenty of business these days with taxpayers bringing in their lien letter and in many cases showing they were paid. Others are being paid and still others remain the same. All of them

Unexpectedly fast time is being made on the nearly 15,000 liens tossed into the lap of the prothonotary on May 1. The girls have nearly 3500 of them recorded which is really good time. They may still be through by Labor Day.

Picking Counselors For Camp Fred Rentz

Applications for counselor positions this summer at Camp Fred L. Rentz of the New Castle Y. M. C. A., mailed to a group last week, were being returned to the "Y" of-ice, Henry T. MacNicholas, assistant general secretary, said.

"Some counselors," MacNicholas stated, "have service covering 10 years at camp to their credit, and, of course, this counts much in their favor."

Boys who attend Camp Rentz as campers are privileged to try for probationary junior counselorships and junior counselorship grades, which lead, in many cases, to senior counselorships. Camp Rentz is one of the few in the state that encourages the training of boys as camp leaders.

Camp Rentz opens for the 1939 season July 5.

No Political Purpose In King's Visit

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 19.—Their majesties, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, are coming to the United States without political purpose, but the British government hopes that the royal visit will result in closer ties of friendship between the United States and Great Britain.

This was the assertion Thursday of Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, who held the first press conference of his long and distinguished diplomatic career to explain various features of the forthcoming royal visit.

"Their majesties' visit, we hope, will result in improvement of traditional ties of friendship existing between your country and mine, but there is no more political purpose in their visit than that," Sir Ronald said.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

JUDICIOUS USE OF WATER SAVED QUINTS, SAYS DAFOE

As a practitioner in this country I could see what water did for people. But I think I have a much greater respect for it since the Dionne Quintuplets were born. You see, water saved their lives.

At birth they were so frail we had to have some artificial means of keeping them warm. In a modern hospital, they would have been placed promptly in an electrically controlled incubator. Even if we had had, it wouldn't have helped us any, for there wasn't any electric power.

So we fell back on that common household utensil—the hot-water bottle. Day and night the wood stove in the Dionne farmhouse was kept going, and we always had a kettle of water heating so we could keep those bottles full. In a few days newspapers in Chicago and Toronto donated incubators—devices whose heat was controlled by hot water. So that old wood stove blazed away, and we kept the babies warm, much more scientifically now, with hot water.

For those first months we didn't have the modern equipment we have now, but one thing we could be sure about was water, and we let only water that had been boiled or sterilized come near the Quintuplets. Whether it was for drinking, or just for washing their clothing, it was all the same. When the babies were four months old, we moved them into their present nursery, but even then water continued to play its important part in their lives.

Public health organizations throughout the country deserve a lot of credit for the way they have co-operated with rural doctors in having water supplies made free from germs and dangerous bacteria. The idea of the old oaken bucket may be lovely in song and story, but actually it was a great haven for germs too, and many an epidemic of typhoid it spread. Typhoid isn't in the least poetic.

As a result of the efforts of doctors and public health organizations, well throughout the country are now examined regularly. People are beginning to realize how essential to health it is to have pure water, kept in clean containers. It is surprising, up here, to see how many people are having supplies of water piped into their homes, and what care they are taking to see that the water isn't contaminated.

I say it is a great surprise to me, for I remember the day when water was just water in the eyes of the people. Wells were often placed in the barnyard, where they would be handy for watering stock. It didn't matter, of course, that the surface barnyard water drained into the well.

Jailing of political bosses inconveniences the government. It must find new local agents to represent the More Abundant Life.

Rev. Heaton Will Go To California

At a short business meeting, called at the close of the mid week prayer meeting, the First Baptist church, voted to send the pastor, Rev. C. H. Heaton, to the Northern Baptist convention, which will be held in Los Angeles, California, in June.

Dr. Heaton's name appears on the pre-convention conference, held two days before the regular convention opens. While in the west he expects to visit with his mother, who will be 80 years of age on September 16.

Three Airships Go Over North Of City Thursday

Ships Are Enroute To New York World's Fair From Akron, Ohio, Field

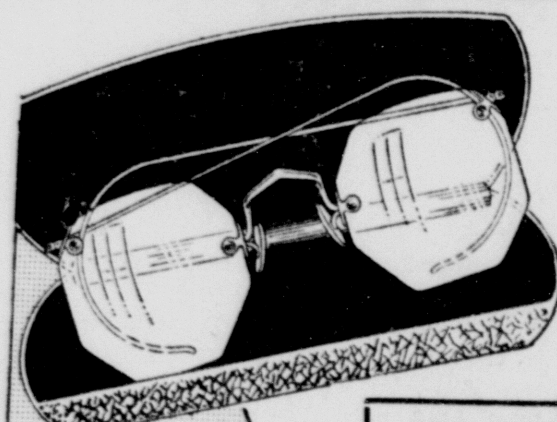

Three airships from the Good-year company in Akron, O., passed over north of the city Thursday evening between 5:30 and 6 o'clock. The ships were enroute from Akron to

New York City where they will visit the World's Fair.

The ships passed directly over Pulaski, and were undoubtedly headed for Meadville to pick up the airline route to New York.

William Ice, local pilot, on seeing the ships from the New Castle Airport, took off in his airplane and caught up with the blimps. Ice was given a flyer's greeting by the airship crew as he flew alongside them.

KIWANIS ENGAGES SPEAKER
Robert A. Sheppard, member of the American Red Cross' national staff, who officiates next week at the formal dedication of the new chapter home of the Lawrence county council, will address the Kiwanis club in The Castleton Wednesday, May 24.

Seek Record For Staying Married In Hollywood

By MILTON HARKER

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, May 19.—With a procession of Hollywood notables either getting married or getting divorced, there is one young Hollywood film couple with a very estimable ambition.
"We want to set a long-distance record for staying married to each other."
Speaking are Marjorie and Jack Reynolds, wed just three years ago after a two-year romance which began right in a studio.
Marjorie is a free lance actress who's been in the movies since she was four. She's 21 now. Her husband is an assistant director at the Sam Goldwyn studio.
They met when she went to Goldwyn's for a part in a picture. After they became engaged, they waited ten months before they were married to make sure of their own minds.
They're just as sure now as they were then, Marjorie said today. "There is no reason why you can't have a career and a happy home, too," she said. "That's particularly true when both husband and wife work in the movies. Both understand the business and all the demands which may be made of your time. If your husband wasn't in the movies he might not understand how you might have to go away on location.

"Of course there are times when you don't see much of each other, like last week. Jack was working at nights while a picture was being completed and I was working in the daytime. We just had a chance to say hello and goodbye."
Marjorie feels she knows a bit about the movie business. She worked in a dozen pictures from the ages of four to ten with such stars as Norma Talmadge and Ramon Navarro. Then she quit the movies when she was ten to devote all her time to study until she was 16.
Then she returned to pictures, mostly as a dancer for Paramount and other studios. Her husband told her she should go back to straight acting so she won a role at Columbia. Then she did 14 westerns, working with practically every cowboy star on the screen. Then she did six of the "Tallspin Tommy" series. Then two more westerns, the last "Timber Stampede," with George O'Brien from RKO.

She thinks working in the movies is great.
But, if she had to give up her career or her marriage, she'd give up her career.

You might find it hard to believe but the pet on the new Carole Lombard-Clark Gable ranch home is a mule, one "Judy."
"Judy is just wonderful," Carole informs this reporter. "You would never believe a mule could have so much brains. She knows every single word Clark or I say to her."

Volant College Reunion; Home Coming Outlined

Annual Event Will Take Place On Old College
Campus On June 28

JUDGE CHAMBERS
TO BE SPEAKER

Plans for the annual Volant college reunion and home coming day for residents of the Volant community are now being actively detailed as the date for the event, June 28, approaches.

John B. Shaw, president of the association, has announced that the speaker of the day will be Judge James A. Chambers, one of the early alumni of the school.

Arrangements have been made for a bus to leave New Castle for Volant at 10:30 a. m. and to return at 4:30 p. m. to accommodate those who are without means of transportation. It is announced that plenty of parking space will be available in the vicinity of the campus, now occupied by the Volant Presbyterian church.

Miss Olive Climefelter of New Wilmington, secretary of the association, and Miss Mary Minehan, of New Castle, chairman of the Memorial committee are putting forth efforts, along with the members of the general committee to have a large attendance of former attendants at the old school, and former residents of the community.

The citizens of Volant have always been noted for their hospitality, and each year have been adding to the interest of these reunions by their cooperation.

Originally instituted to honor the founder of the college, Dr. Asher A. Galbreath, it has been carried on since his death as a memorial to him. While Mrs. Galbreath, his widow, is not in the best of health at her home in Rogers, O., she expects to be present for the reunion again this year, it is stated.

Wheat Farmers Given Warning

Must Have Acreage Within Allotments By Saturday To Receive Payments

Pennsylvania wheat farmers who planted over their wheat acreage allotments have until Saturday, May 20, to get within their allotments, the Lawrence County Agricultural Conservation Committee reminded today. By getting within their allotments these farmers will be eligible now for the wheat parity payment of 11 cents per bushel and for the Conservation payment later of 17 cents per bushel.

Because of our local custom of crop rotation and seeding wheat for green manure and cover crops, the Committee stated, some farmers seeded over their wheat allotments. County committees throughout the State requested that these farmers who had over-seeded be permitted to get within the allotments. On recommendation of western wheat growers this request was granted.

CITY POLICE MAY SHOOT DOGS

People Being Attack, Gardens And Flower Beds Ruined

Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell today threatened to send a shotgun squad into different sections of the city to kill stray dogs, because during the past week not only have persons been attacked but considerable damage has been caused to gardens and flower beds.

"If a person thinks enough of a dog to feed it, he should think enough of the dog to keep it tied. No dog is allowed to run loose, so don't be surprised if some are killed by police," the chief stated.

During the past several days and nights, the telephone at police headquarters has carried scores of requests for police to stop dogs from running at large.

A person can be fined for allowing his dog to run at large and if it is licenseless it may be shot, it was stated.

Several years ago a police shotgun brigade toured the city and within a short time dog owners had the realization forced upon them that the authorities meant business.

The chief of police has come to the conclusion, it was reported today, that some people do not attempt to obey the dog law, hence the possibility the shotgun squad may be ordered into action.

GENEVA ALUMNI ENJOYS ADDRESS OF DR. COLEMAN

"Most of the European countries today are riding the middle of a sea-saw, watchfully waiting to see which way it will eventually tip and where the balance of power will fall," Dr. John Coleman, professor of political science at Geneva college in Beaver Falls, told the New Castle district's Geneva Alumni at a banquet here last night.

"Which ever way it swings," said Dr. Coleman, "they know will give them collective security."

Fifty-seven graduates and former students of Geneva attended the suburban inn dinner party and heard the scholarly, popular faculty member discuss the question, "Will There Be Another War?"

Dr. Coleman flatly asserted that England, had she been so inclined, could have halted Japan's invasion of Manchuria several years ago, and thus would have completely discouraged Italy's subsequent conquest of Ethiopia, Japan's new invasion of China and the more recent annexations of neighboring states by Germany.

Presiding was Thomas I. Elliott, president of the local alumni group. Invocation at dinner was by Rev. Elmer Russell of the Reformed Presbyterian church here, while Rev. Alvin W. Smith of Rose Point led the audience in Geneva songs.

During dinner a senior high school string trio, composed of Jean Wright, pianist; Thomas Devitto, violinist, and Jess Badger, cellist, played. During the after-dinner program vocal numbers were sung by Chester Kyle of Mt. Jackson, accompanied by Mrs. Alvin W. Smith. Dr. J. S. Martin, Geneva alumni secretary, spoke briefly.

Wedding Bells Herald Rush At Social Security Office

With June wedding bells in the offing, the Social Security board is now preparing to handle its annual peak load of bridal applications for changes in names on their old-age insurance accounts.

Weddings, differences between actual names and those on the payroll and just plain personal preference have resulted in almost 1,000,000 changes in old-age insurance records the country over, William J. Michael, field office manager here, has been informed.

He said newly-married women are responsible for the greatest number of changes. "The proneness of women to change their names is also reflected in the requests for alterations in the records," Manager Michael said.

He cited numerous cases of women named Elizabeth who wish to be known as Betty or Lizabeth or Beth or Bette or Lizzie, because their names appear that way on the payroll. Aside from marriage, the most frequent reason for a change of name is the use of a "working" name other than the actual name of the wage earner.

Local Triplets Six Months Old

The Johnson triplets today are six months old.

Three smiling faces greeted the newsmen as he stepped in for a brief visit early this morning, in the near South New Castle Borough residence of the healthy infants.

When they were born, the "triplets" averaged about 5 pounds. Today, they weighed: Clara Mae, 13 1/2 pounds; Thomas Matthews, 14 pounds and Gertrude Ann 13 pounds. The "dolls" have two teeth still toothless.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Johnson, the parents, today announced that the "triplets" will be baptized in St. Philip-James church, Sunday, May 28.

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

(The Intermediate Uniform Lesson on the above topic for May 21 is Jeremiah 35: 5-10; Ephesians 5: 15-21; 6: 1-4 The Golden Text being Leviticus 10:9. "Drink no wine nor strong drinks thou, nor thy sons with thee.")

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Today we have another lesson on strong drink and how it affects the happiness of our homes.

The first story told in our lesson is one we've heard before, but which bears repeating. It is the tale of Jeremiah, who at the behest of the Lord, tempted the descendants of Rechabab with wine. Rechabab had admonished his sons never to drink wine nor to live in houses, not to plant vineyards, but to live in tents. Jeremiah set pots and cups of wine before the grandsons of this man and told them to drink. But they would not, saying "We have obeyed the voice of Joadah the son of Rechabab our father in all that he hath charged us, to drink no wine all our days, we, our wives, our sons, nor our daughters."

It must have been hard for these men, guests in a house, to refuse their hosts' invitation, but they showed their courage by declining. In Leviticus the Lord spoke unto Aaron, Moses' brother, saying: "Do not drink wine nor strong drink, thou, nor thy sons with thee, when ye go into the tabernacle of the congregation, lest ye die; it shall be a statute forever throughout your generations."

We always associate Daniel with the lion's den and his deliverance from its danger, but here is another story about him. When he was a boy he lived for a time in the house of the king Nebuchadnezzar. This king had overcome Jehorakim, King of Judah, and he had told the captain of the eunuchs to find some young Israelite boys and bring them to his palace and educate them.

Daniel was one of these lads and they were given meat and wine from the king's own table. Daniel, a follower of the law that Aaron had expounded didn't want to drink the wine and so told Ashpenaz head of the eunuchs who was friendly to him. The man said he had received orders that the boys were to eat what was given them so what could he do?

Daniel then asked him to let him try an experiment. Four of them, Daniel, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, were to be allowed to eat only pulse (a vegetable diet) and drink water for ten days, then their appearance was to be compared with those who had been on a diet prescribed by the king. They were allowed to carry on the experiment and God gave the boys great wisdom besides, so the Bible says, so that at the end of the test they were found to be superior in every respect to the other boys and they won and "stood before the king."

Over indulgence in wine or other alcoholic liquors often is responsible for wrecking what otherwise might be happy homes. Paul gives very good advice to these early Christians in Ephesians 5 when he says in a letter to them: "See then that ye walk circumspectly not as fools but as wise," and later in the chapter, "And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess, but be filled with the spirit, speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord, giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ."

How To Relieve Itching of Piles and Ease Rectal Irritation

If you are annoyed with the itching of piles or rectal irritation, you will be well pleased with the quick and pleasing comfort the use of Ice Mint will give you. This cooling and soothing preparation quickly relieves the itching, eases pain and irritation and aids in healing the raw, sore spots. It seems the height of folly for anyone to suffer this itching annoyance when a simple remedy, so easy to use, may be had at such a small cost. Ice Mint is highly recommended and is clean and pleasant to use. Try it. Any drug store can supply you.

The Golden Text

"Drink no wine nor strong drink, thou, nor thy sons with thee."
Leviticus 10:9.

Then in Ephesians 6 he says: "Children obey your parents in the Lord, for this is right."

"Honour thy father and mother; which is the first commandment with promise; that it may be well with thee, and thou mayest live long on the earth."

"And ye fathers provoke not your children to wrath; but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."

You can see that it is important that all who make up a household on their part to make the home a happy one. If one person is indulgent, not only is over-indulgence in intoxicating drinks, but in eating too much, demanding too many clothes, in having one's own way all the time—it makes for unhappiness. Love is the great foundation on which the real home is built and real love respects the other person's rights.

You grown-ups who can look back on happy childhood spent in congenial homes can, for the sake of your children, give up your own intemperance, whatever it may be.

And your children can obey Paul's injunction to obey and honor your parents and so contribute your part to make home sweeter.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

"Always rise from the table with an appetite."
William Penn, founder of Pennsylvania, said that.
Such a policy, he added, always insures an appetite.
There is no trick to proper eating.
Not if one is normally healthy.
No need to worry about proteins, carbohydrates, fats.
All one has to do is to eat a sensible meal.
The "essential constituents" of diet will be in it.
More people die by food than by famine.
Continued digestive symptoms call for correct diagnosis.
Not merely for a diet suggested by an acquaintance.
Don't abuse the stomach—man's best friend.

Another has approached this office holder... he is against your plan and tells the big shot why he is against it... and he also tells that he controls a lot of votes and that if the big shot wants to be reelected he had better forget your scheme. The office holder wanting to be reelected does the so-called vote controller says and what have you... a worse condition than before. What this country needs, are office holders that don't give a hang if they are reelected to an office or not... but do the best they know how, honestly and for the betterment of the population they represent... if they are really good they haven't anything to worry about. Now that we have had our say, take it for what you think it's worth... as we have said before we haven't anything against anyone in particular... but we believe this statement could be said in most any community.

Are your flags cleaned and ready to be set in their outdoor holders... How about getting them ready for the 21st, 22nd and 23rd of this month. The Catholic Daughters of America will hold their state convention here. Let's give them a real American welcome.

WE have no one person in mind when this statement is made... it might mean a local person and then again it might mean a state person... it might not even mean one that you and I are personally acquainted with, but we feel sure that in some cases it is very true... not every case however, but in a great many cases this fault of a public office holder is most outstanding. The first year or so, a man in office, he tries to satisfy members of his party... and other friends by giving them jobs or some help... the remainder of his term he spends trying to make friends with the population as a whole... regardless of what his actions are... that in regards to the governing of his office. One example of this type of work is the fellow who runs a rather important office... his word will cause or allow things to be done for the betterment of a population... Suppose you have a great idea about a certain subject that will make things better for the population... it in no way involves anything that will set you higher in the social or financial world, but just would help things along better in general... this office holder sees the good it will do and he is all for it, sure he will do his best to help the idea get started... but then you never hear of it any more. Here is what happened:

The first year or so, a man in office, he tries to satisfy members of his party... and other friends by giving them jobs or some help... the remainder of his term he spends trying to make friends with the population as a whole... regardless of what his actions are... that in regards to the governing of his office. One example of this type of work is the fellow who runs a rather important office... his word will cause or allow things to be done for the betterment of a population... Suppose you have a great idea about a certain subject that will make things better for the population... it in no way involves anything that will set you higher in the social or financial world, but just would help things along better in general... this office holder sees the good it will do and he is all for it, sure he will do his best to help the idea get started... but then you never hear of it any more. Here is what happened:

Another has approached this office holder... he is against your plan and tells the big shot why he is against it... and he also tells that he controls a lot of votes and that if the big shot wants to be reelected he had better forget your scheme. The office holder wanting to be reelected does the so-called vote controller says and what have you... a worse condition than before. What this country needs, are office holders that don't give a hang if they are reelected to an office or not... but do the best they know how, honestly and for the betterment of the population they represent... if they are really good they haven't anything to worry about. Now that we have had our say, take it for what you think it's worth... as we have said before we haven't anything against anyone in particular... but we believe this statement could be said in most any community.

Are your flags cleaned and ready to be set in their outdoor holders... How about getting them ready for the 21st, 22nd and 23rd of this month. The Catholic Daughters of America will hold their state convention here. Let's give them a real American welcome.

WE have no one person in mind when this statement is made... it might mean a local person and then again it might mean a state person... it might not even mean one that you and I are personally acquainted with, but we feel sure that in some cases it is very true... not every case however, but in a great many cases this fault of a public office holder is most outstanding.
